"I am the vine; you are the branches. If you remain in me and I in you, you will bear much fruit; apart from me you can do nothing.

If you remain in me and my words remain in you, ask whatever you wish,

God's Judgement
& Redemption
(Level 2)

29 July - 2 Sept
6 weeks

The prophecies of Amos and Obadiah were uttered about a century apart yet their theme is very similar - it is the inevitability of judgment when sin is excused and continued. The sins for which Amos chastens the people are extensive: neglect of God's Word, idolatry, pagan worship, greed, corrupted leadership, and oppression of the poor. He points out their failure to fully embrace God's idea of justice – they took advantage of the needy and helpless. Obadiah denounces Edom for their terrible treatment of God's people and announces the promise of God's redemption, future blessing and restoration of Israel.

Zephaniah warns Judah and the surrounding nations that the Day of the Lord is near, that it would be a time of wrath where God's judgement will come upon sin. But the faithful remnant who continues to seek the Lord and His righteousness would experience the blessings of His presence among them.

Mandarin Class:
The Life of Christ

24 July - 25 Sept
10 weeks

Although hesitant to speak publicly about His messiahship for much of His ministry, Jesus made clear in multiple ways that He carried with Him both the presence and authority of God, making Himself equal to God. He came to form a people who loved God and reflected Him to a needy world by a different kind of life and love that stands out in a needy world, establishing Himself as the Lord of that people.

His resurrection from the dead validated His claims to divinity and authority and therefore, we can believe all He claimed and taught.

Throughout the book, reverence for God and reliance on Him are set forth as the path to life, prosperity and security. Wisdom then is following the benevolent King's design for human happiness within the creation order -- resulting in quality of mind and quality of life. You will find the collections of proverbs relevant to a broad spectrum of human situations, relationships and responsibilities offering insights, warnings, instructions and counsels along with frequent motivations to heed them.
